

Greetings Union Sisters and Brothers, and Welcome to Our Annual Conference Day 2017.

We the members of USW Local 9265 are part of a proud tradition that started with a few workers in steel mills who stood up to the robber barons of the time and fought for the right to bargain for decent wages, healthcare, and pensions.

One hundred years ago, none of these things were a part of the workplace. What was a regular part of the workplace was child labor, 12 hour workdays, no healthcare benefits, and no retirement; in other words, what current politicians want to return to. But the vision of those early workers grew from a few workers, to many across the country fighting for the rights of workers from steel mills to hospitals and schools. None of us want to go back to that time, but there are forces in the world that believe the time for Unions is past.

The force that created the Union movement 100 years ago was the power of unity.

We as members of Local 9265 are involved every day in helping PEF members keep their jobs and their Union. But how do we make sure OUR Union survives and WE keep our jobs?

Come to our conference on Friday, June 9, 2017 so we can figure it out together.

Our annual Conference this year will be held on Friday, June 9, 2017, at the Albany Hilton, 40 Lodge Street. The day actually kicks off with dinner on Thursday evening, June 8 at 6pm at the Hollow Bar & Kitchen, 79 North Pearl Street, Albany. Our meeting begins at 9am on Friday and ends with a cocktail hour, followed by dinner at the Olde English Pub at 683 Broadway.

OUR UNITY IS OUR POWER!
