

Is today your day to die at work?

National Day of Mourning

April 28th is dedicated to honouring the memory of the men and women killed and injured on the job. In Canada, about three workplace deaths occur every day. It doesn't have to be this way.

Make safety your first priority on every job you do.

Remember, it's your life. Don't leave work without it.

